

Dear RTMSD Community,

Rose Tree Media School District continues to prepare for the future growth of our district by executing our long-term facilities plan. The School Board is pursuing a staged investment plan to address our capital projects including the building of a new elementary school in a manner that prioritizes and addresses our needs through a responsible and beneficial plan for our district and community.

Last month, I asked for your support at an Edgmont Township meeting to support our proposed new elementary school. The new school will address development and growth where it is taking place - largely in Edgmont Township.

I am asking for your continued involvement by adding your voice in support of the new school at the second Edgmont Planning Commission Meeting. On June 21 at 7:00 PM, Edgmont Township will hold a continuation of the previous Special Planning Commission meeting at Penn State Brandwine in the first-floor meeting rooms of the student union building.

Building a school in Edgmont Township addresses the district's most critical need – space in elementary buildings – while preserving our neighborhood schools. The new elementary school would absorb future growth in the areas of our district that will see future development. It would also cause less disruption to transportation, help students spend less time on transportation and limit any possible redistricting.

For more information on the district's application for the new elementary school and details on the meeting, please click here. Also, please visit RoomtoLearnRoomtoGrow.org for more information on the project.

Thank you for your support,
Dr. D.
